

Brooklin Academy

Professional Development to make a positive impact

The history

Training has always been and continues to be an important part of Brooklin Consulting's "Structured Approach" projects.

Leaders at every level need to continuously learn new skills and tools to make a positive impact on results – both to support organizational excellence and as professional development to advance individual careers.

The demand for individually paced, online professional education is high. It offers flexibility, reduced cost and lower environmental impact.

We at Brooklin Consulting are proud to introduce you to our latest professional development solution - Brooklin Academy!

Welcome to Brooklin Academy

Brooklin Academy is an exciting new training resource with over 65 self-paced courses that your team can access whenever and wherever they choose.

Our portal provides the required coursework, assignments, reading, and testing to earn a Certificate in a number of programs.

At each program level, we also provide formal Certification through project coaching, a final examination, and a confirmation of your ability to apply the tools in a real workplace situation.

Lean, Lean Six Sigma and Agile methodologies have stood the test of time as valuable approaches to continuous improvement.
